

Sad news: Peter the games lover has passed away

Dear Servas friends,

Just a few days ago we received the really sad news that Peter has died of a sudden heart attack. He was staying with very close friends of his in Munich and his suffering was mercifully short.

Peter had set out in writing that he wanted an anonymous burial, no service and no official obituary.

It is with a heavy heart that we respect his final wishes.

Peter with the Servas Welcome Game: a quartet: Learn four important words in 16 languages for your travels. He developed the game for Servas*: private photo

Peter was a very special person and everyone who met him knew that he saw Servas as his family.

He always showed empathy, was open-minded and got on with everyone. Peter travelled all over the world with Servas and brought people together in his own special, playful way particularly with his games that so many of us enjoyed at Servas meetings.

Without him Servas will be poorer, as one member so poignantly said when he heard that Peter has passed away.

He will live forever in our hearts.

Translation: Peter is resting; private photo

In May 2020 he sent us an interesting report on his last journey across South America which can be found here (in German): <http://www.servas.de/wordpress/de/2020/05/spiele-peter-bummelt-durch-suedamerika-2/>

We will miss him.

Conni Geisendorf
National Secretary Servas Germany

*Info about the Servas-Welcome-Game: <http://www.servas.de/wordpress/de/verein/servas-das-spiel/>